THE NEW ROAD OPENED.

LONG-LOOKED FOR ELECTRIC CARS RUNNING ON BROAD STREET.

The Road a Complete Success-It Wins High Encomiums From the Officials of the City.

The elegant electrically-propelled cars of the Traction Company sped up and down Broad street yesterday afternoon over eight miles of track, and a new era dawned in rapid transit in Richmond.

The cars went gliding up and down the long steep grades on either side of Shockoc valley, with an case and speed that was a revelation to the uninitiated, he motion being like the steady run of a and it seemed in no way to interfere with their rounding.

Finally, with the storm over, other cars came out from the shops at Robinson street, and the tracks were kept lively with their whiz as they sped back and forth, from cast to west, along the length of Broad street, the sidewalks lined on lither side with admiring citizens.

Auch astonishment is expressed at Toler's fate, as there were no high objects around the place where he was working to attract the lightning.
